Awards

Canadian Northern Studies Trust ACUNS Awards Program

We have received information on the research and awards program offered by the Canadian Northern Studies Trust for the 1993-94 academic year. Applications from both undergraduate and master's level students are being encouraged, in addition to those from Ph.D. level students. Please consult the "academic" board for details concerning all these awards. Applications will be accepted until January 31, 1993.

Women-in-Development Shastri Indo-Canadian Institute Faculty Fellowships. Two fellowships will be awarded to established Canadian scholars for research and related activities in India over a four-month period in 1993-94. Applications are due by January 31, 1993.

Note: Please consult the "academic" boards for individual award postings.

Request from Status of Women Office Kathleen Perry, Acting Advisor to the Rector on the Status of Women is requesting your assistance in the promotion of the video "Inequality in the Classroom/En toute Égalité" which, as you are aware, was designed to sensitize faculty and adult educators about the subtle forms of discrimination that women face in the classroom. The Office of the Status of Women would appreciate being notified of any upcoming conferences so that their office can send promotional material concerning their video for inclusion in the conference. Any assistance or information you can provide would be extremely helpful. Please direct your conference information to Michelle Séguin at 848-4841.

News of Interest

Dr. Chengiah Ragaven met with Rigoberta Menchú, the 1992 Nobel Peace Prize winner at a reception given in her honour by Montreal Mayor Jean Doré. Chengiah's work at Cambridge, England, was on human rights, especially torture in Latin America.
